The Tall Towers Educational Workshop is an educational workshop that introduces young learners to the world of architecture. Held inside the LEGOLAND® Discovery Center Chicago, workshop participants are able to gain knowledge and understanding of architecture through hands on LEGO® brick play and construction. Participants in Tall Towers Educational Workshop engage in building challenges intended to teach the importance of teamwork and communication. The Tall Towers Educational Workshop also provides a unique setting to study elementary construction principles, the many natural and man-made structures in their world, and the effects of natural disasters on tall buildings. The Tall Towers Educational Workshop fulfills part of the Boy Scouts badge requirements for Model Design and Building.
